

NOTE TO END GENERAL STRIKE OLSON TAKES OVER GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

NO DISTURBANCE AS LANGER'S OPPONENT TAKES OVER DUTIES

PROCLAMATION REVOKING CALL FOR SPECIAL LEGISLA- TIVE SESSION POSTED

BISMARCK, N. D. July 19.—(P)—Lieut. Gov. Ole H. Olson, acting governor, took physical possession of the chief executive's office at 10 a. m. today.

He merely walked into the office, accompanied by two friends. National guardsmen at the same time were posted in the corridors of the statehouse. There was no disturbance.

Olson immediately posted his proclamation in the corridors of the statehouse revoking a special session of the state legislature, called by William Langer, ousted governor. Doors of the two assemblies were locked.

Accompanied by the two friends, State Senator L. F. Frederickson and Arthur Lee of Fargo, Olson walked to the door of the executive quarters.

National guardsmen were posted in the corridors but were not before the executive offices at the time Olson appeared.

A stenographer on Langer's staff opened the door, and then closed it again, knocking again. This time he entered.

Adjutant General Earle Searles, who announced he would stand behind Olson, was in his office downstairs.

Legislators were in the city prepared to convene pursuant to the call issued by Langer, and subsequently revoked by Olson.

With a majority of the legislators favorable to Langer, it was uncertain what steps they would take.

John Husby, commissioner of agriculture and one of the officials who revolted from Langer's leadership, was in the governor's office when Olson entered. S. A. Olness, insurance commissioner aligned with the Olson group, came later.

Two of Langer's stenographers were at work when Olson took possession of the office. One was engaged in work left by Langer who has been in the city since the time the state supreme court ousted him on the ground that

Farmers Armed Against Trio Of Wild Rabid Dogs

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 19.—(P)—

Southern Cambridia county farmers, transformed into watchful, armed camps, bore mute testimony today to the savagery of a trio of rabid wild dogs raiding the countryside.

Three persons have been bitten and 20 head of cattle, sheep and other livestock have fallen victims to their fangs.

Fearful for their children and remaining livestock, the farmers are keeping shotguns and rifles close at hand, awaiting new forays by the maddened trio.

Dr. Ira Mitterling, of Hollidaysburg, state veterinarian, is checking all farms in the region for infected livestock. Emergency supplies of anti-rabies serum have been stocked.

STATUS OF NEGRO VOTING IS STILL UNDETERMINED HERE

NO OFFICIAL STATEMENT HAS BEEN MADE BY ANY ELECTION OFFICIAL

The question whether Navarro county negroes will participate in the approaching democratic primary election, Saturday, July 28, is still a debated topic of conversation among the politicians and interested citizens.

No official statement has been made on the question by N. S. Crawford, chairman of the Navarro County Democratic Executive committee, or any precinct chairman.

No negroes have voted or attempted to vote absentee ballots at the county clerk's office, according to an announcement shortly before noon Thursday.

Suits Pending.
Precinct chairmen and the county chairman are understood to be withholding their official announcement relative to negro participation in the primary until the suits now pending in the civil appeals courts and

SWELTERING HEAT PREVAILS IN TEXAS AGAIN ON THURSDAY

THREE HEAT DEATHS RE- CORDED AS HOT WINDS SEAR GRASS AND CROPS

(By The Associated Press.)
Sweltering heat made life miserable for Texans again today after temperatures soared yesterday to seasonal high marks all over the state. There were three heat fatalities yesterday.

Crops were blistered and grass on the dry ranges was seared as hot winds added to the damage already caused by a prolonged drought in many sections.

Sam Davis, 30-year-old negro, died of heat prostration, while cutting corn in a field near Taylor yesterday. J. C. Eaton, 72, collapsed while fighting a grass fire near his lunch stand at Houston. He died en route to a hospital.

Several other elderly men have succumbed to heat in the last few days over the state.

Dallas had the hottest weather of the season yesterday, with the temperature reaching 101 degrees. For months there had been no appreciable rainfall in the Dallas section. Crops and livestock were showing the effects of the drought.

At Longview, the mercury climbed to 107 degrees and at Nacogdoches it reached 106. Corsicana also felt the blistering effect of 107 weather.

Atop the Shell building in Houston, the thermometer registered 100 degrees, equalling the seasonal high. San Antonio reported a high of 100. San Antonio has been suffering from drought since April 19 and since only two showers have fallen.

The 103 degree reading at Fort Worth was a record for the summer.

ABILENE MAN IS KILLED IN CRASH; GIRL IS INJURED

ABILENE, July 19.—(P)—Roy Woods, 33, refreshment stand operator of Abilene, suffered fatal injuries and his companion, Alice Woods, 18, was injured, when their automobile was critically hurt late yesterday when their automobile was in collision with a truck near Lueders, Jones county. Three Albany men riding in the truck were bruised.

Woods and Miss Duff, both unconscious, were removed to a Stanford hospital. Identification of the girl was made at midnight by her mother.

Woods was married and the father of six children, all under 11.

ARKANSAS FACING SEVERE HEAT AND DROUGHT CONDITION

MERCURY SOARS FAR OVER HUNDRED DEGREE MARK AND NO RAINFALL

FORT SMITH, Ark., July 19.—(P)—Arkansas farmers, who have just repaid South Dakota for its aid during the drought-famines of 1930, were threatened today with an even worse blight.

In Fort Smith, center of the north and west Arkansas drought sector, a seasonal record of 106.2 degrees was made yesterday, the third consecutive day of similar temperatures.

State and county officials described the prolonged dry hot spell as already approaching that of 1930 in intensity.

DOCKMEN SLAIN IN TEXAS UNION DISPUTE

Seven longshoremen were shot three fatally, in Houston, Texas, in a renewal of waterfront hostilities between union and independent workers. Those slain and one seriously wounded were negroes. Photos show precautions made for the protection of workers; at top: guards, heavily armed, stationed about the docks. Bottom: armored trucks in which workers were transported from home to work.

VIOLENCE FLARES PORTLAND, SEATTLE WATERFRONT STRIKES

GRIP GENERAL STRIKE IN SAN FRANCISCO AREA APPEARS WEAKENING

(By The Associated Press.)
The grip of San Francisco's general strike weakened today, but violence increased elsewhere on the Pacific coast.

Gunfire on the Portland waterfront menaced Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York as he was making an inspection tour yesterday. Witnesses said the shots, which struck close to the senator's automobile, were fired by special waterfront guards. Wagner is on the coast to aid in conciliation efforts.

Rioting at Seattle injured 20 persons, some of them policemen. Approximately 1,500 striking longshoremen and their sympathizers stormed two piers in the face of a tear gas defense by police.

Food and other necessities were moving again into San Francisco, Oakland and other Bay cities. More markets, stores and restaurants reopened.

Bodies of Over Hundred Victims Of Flood Found

WARSAW, Poland, July 19.—(P)—Bodies of 120 victims of raging floods in Southern Poland have been recovered, an official report said today, with 180 missing and believed to have perished.

A new flood menace was feared at Cracow as a crest of water from the mountain regions roared down into the valleys.

More than 55,000 were without food and shelter as swollen rivers continued to leave their banks after days of continuous rain.

Plumber Kicked Mayor to Death In Kansas Town

SCOTT CITY, Kas., July 19.—(P)—A quarrel over a sewer permit led to the slaying of Mayor H. L. Blecker of Scott City.

GRAND JURY STARTS ACTION IN CASE OF TWO-BANK ROBBERS

ALBANY, July 1.—(P)—Officials of the First National Bank today identified James Lucas, 22, and Jack Hardin as the two young men who robbed the bank of $12,000 in currency and travelers' checks yesterday.

The robbers were run down in a gun fight with Sheriff Arthur Holmes of Baylor county and, after Hardin had been wounded in the leg, they surrendered. At Seymour, they were charged with attempted murder for shooting at the sheriff. They were caught near Seymour.

The grand jury went into session today.

Lucas bragged freely of the venture but Hardin sulked in silence. Lucas, an escaped convict from the Texas prison system, said he had the "hook" in mind for five years. He attended school here years ago and had a small account in the bank. He said he and Hardin had planned the robbery since last August.

CLAIM WAREHOUSES GLUTTED BY PECANS IN SAN ANTONIO

STRIKE OF SHELLERS BRINGS
PROBLEMS OF STORAGE
FOR ARRIVING NUTS

SAN ANTONIO, July 19.—(P)—Warehouses were glutted with pecans today as fresh carload lots of the nuts continued to arrive and complicate the problem of storage while thousands of striking pecan shellers peacefully picketed the city's 400 small shelleries, according to M. Edgerton, leader of the striking pecan shellers' union.

The strike leader today claimed that numerous car loads of pecans had been purchased all over the state for July and August delivery under a plan to get the shelling done in the slack period at the low wage scale of three cents for halves and two cents for pieces.

It was expected that the opening of shelleries in July, height of the slack season in the shelling industry, would insure plenty of shellers, according to Edgerton.

The plan has been thwarted by the strike of 8,000 shellers for a scale of six and five cents, Edgerton said.

Shelling contractors have begun to turn back pecans to various companies whose storage space like that of the shelling contractors is rapidly being exhausted according to Edgerton.

By the end of the week Edgerton claimed, 100 carloads of pecans will be in the city.

The San Antonio regional labor board in a statement issued through Roger Buford, its executive secretary, has announced its

JEFFERSON COUNTY NEGROES TAKE CASE TO SUPREME COURT

WOULD COMPEL ELECTION OFFICIALS PERMIT BLACKS TO VOTE JULY 28

AUSTIN, July 19.—(P)—Application for permission to file a motion for a writ of mandamus to compel election officials to allow negroes to vote in the democratic primaries was presented in the Texas Supreme court today on behalf of two negroes in Jefferson county.

The petition named as defendants Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, Attorney General James V. Allred, the state democratic executive committee, the Jefferson county democratic executive committee and precinct judges and election officials of Jefferson county.

It was alleged that W. G. Bell, one of the negroes in whose behalf the suit was instituted, had been refused the privilege of casting an absentee ballot with the Jefferson county clerk, E. L. Jones, Jr., was the other plaintiff.

The inherent power of the democratic party to prescribe the qualifications of its members has been superseded and taken over by the state by statutory enactment and has been surrendered by the democratic party, the petition alleged.

Allred contended that the Democratic party and the state and county executive committees were arms of the state government and were without power to bar negroes from the primaries.

Allred Rules Negroes Ineligible to vote in the primaries because of a resolution adopted by the democratic convention at Houston in May, 1932, restricting participation in the party's action to "white men."

RETURN TO NORMAL CONDITIONS NEAR IN SAN FRANCISCO

GENERAL STRIKE RAPIDLY DISINTEGRATING BEFORE IT IS CALLED OFF

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—(P)—The San Francisco general strike committee voted today to end the unprecedented mass walkout of union labor here. The vote was announced as 191 to 174.

Signs of rapid return to normalcy were observed on all sides today as San Francisco and Oakland shook off the headache of a general strike which, although not called off, was disintegrating rapidly as various union groups returned to work.

Resumption of street car service by the Market Street railway was expected shortly while East Bay transportation service will start again tomorrow.

Approximately 50,000 union workers in San Francisco are still on strike, although many have returned to their duties of "public convenience and necessity," declared Edward Vandeleur.

Vandeleur, president of the San Francisco labor council and the chairman of the General strike committee, called the committee into session again to consider the situation.

Vandeleur reported everything "quiet and peaceful" in labor circles, and denied that the general strike had been called off.

The produce district here, patrolled by national guardsmen, was a scene of intense activity. Auto ferry boats carried full loads of trucks bearing fresh produce and as soon as they arrived they were dispatched to various parts of the city to supply grocery stores.

"We will have gas soon," filling station operators promised motorists as tank trucks began to arrive. A few had gasoline available.

Vandeleur said teamsters were

COMPLETE PROBE OF PORTLAND SHOOTING PROMISED THURSDAY

SENATOR WAGNER ENDAN- GERED BY SHOTS FROM GUARDS GUNS

PORTLAND, Ore., July 19.—(P)—A complete investigation of the waterfront shooting incident which impelled Senator Robert F. Wagner and several others was promised here today by Mayor Joseph Carson while the New York senator said the affair must have been a mistake.

Special waterfront guards fired at an automobile load of officials late yesterday when they said the machine failed to observe a command to halt. Senator Wagner was driving a Roosevelt Gray.

One of the guards fired at the car just ahead of the one fired at and in which one bullet lodged.

E. P. Marsh, conciliator for the United States department of labor, was in the car when it was fired at.

After being questioned, the guards were ordered by Chief of Police B. K. Lawson to return to duty. Later, however, they returned and shot at the car.

Police emergency hospital Myrtle Wilson, 27, former army regular, declared "halt" orders were interpreted literally in the army. Other guards mentioned were Randall Schudt, 22, S. M. Frank, 22, and A. R. Thomas, 34.

In the car struck by the bullet was Marsh, Fred Ross, attorney for the longshoremen's union, and a longshoreman and C. L. Vine of the Seamen union.

WASHINGTON HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT OF CALIFORNIA STRIKE

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IS HEARTENED BY ROOSEVELT PLEA FOR SOLUTION

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(P)—After a long conference at the white house today, Secretary Perkins indicated the federal government still was attempting to settle the San Francisco strike on the basis that both sides would agree to arbitration.

The labor secretary and Donald R. Richberg, counsel of the Federal Emergency Council, were in almost constant communication with the pacific coast by long distance telephone during a three-hour meeting with President Roosevelt's secretary, Marvin H. McIntyre.

Miss Perkins is said to be in her talk this morning with Edward F. McGrady, member of the longshoremen's labor board and assistant secretary of labor, he had not predicted that an end to the strike was near.

"McGrady is altogether too experienced a man to either hope or despair," she said.

Rising hope spurred the federal government today in its efforts to settle the quarrels that have torn California with strikes.

Heartened by President Roosevelt's plea for a "reasonable solution" according to the dictates of "common sense," officials were working hard but were not saying much.

Responding to a request from Acting Governor Merriam that aliens engaging in strike disorders be deported, Secretary of Labor Perkins replied that federal officials at San Francisco were instructed to "act with promptness" wherever the immi-

BOBBY CONNOR IS RECOVERING NICELY; OFFICERS DISAGREE

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 19.—After clearing up several puzzling angles, police today dropped the case of 21-month-old Bobby Connor, the child who so mysteriously disappeared for five days.

Robert continued to improve and was given his first solid food for a week.

At the White Plains Hospital, where he was transferred from Crosslands Hospital yesterday, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Connor, visited him for the first time since his rescue from the woods near his home in Hartsdale.

Captain Philip J. McQuillan of the Greengrass police said today he was convinced Bobby had not been kidnapped, but added that should new evidence warrant it, he would take up the case again.

Federal investigators returned to New York.

District Attorney Frank H. Coyne reasserted that he did not consider the case closed.

HARTSDALE, N. Y., July 19.—(P)—Little Bobby Connor gained steadily in strength today, but left a question as to his disappearance and recovery—lost, strayed or stolen?

Frank Fay, chief of the department of justice agents who investigated the case, left town, agreeing with Chief Philip J. McQuillan of Greengrass police that the boy had been lost and not kidnapped.

McQuillan continued his investigation, however, and District Attorney Frank H. Coyne said:

"I cannot accept the theory that the child wandered away. The other hand I have nothing to disprove it. However, I do not consider the case closed."

The 21-month-old baby, who was found in the woods near his home Tuesday after being missing five days, was transferred from the Crosslands to the White Plains hospital yesterday, his family wishing him to be in a private institution.

still on strike with sanction for working given only to those who operated gasoline trucks, along with ice, milk and bakery wagons. Butchers and culinary workers returned to their jobs.

Taxicab drivers, members of the Chauffeur's union, planned to meet late today to consider returning to work.

Meanwhile, shipping companies went ahead with plans for dispatching vessels from this port, which felt the first effects of the strike when the longshoremen walked out May 9.

Wireless messages flashed across the seas, ordering captains of vessels again to return here.

By NORMAN BELL

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—(P)—Wheels of business in San Francisco's metropolitan area moved again today under relaxing brakes of a general strike.

Under pressure from Federal and city governments, the general walkout gave indications of collapsing rapidly.

"The strike strategy" committee of Alameda county, in which 300,000 of the area's 1,300,000 residents reside, announced a vote would be taken at Oakland tonight on a proposal to end the walkout.

Resumption of Eastbay (Alameda county) transportation service controlled by the key route system, including its ferryboats on the bay, employing a total of 900 men, was announced for tomorrow by the carmen's strike committee.

More street cars rolled through San Francisco's streets, shops reopened and food and gasoline service approached normal, apparently without hindrance but officials remained alert for danger signals.

Watch Maritime Strike.

The Pacific Coast maritime strike, key issue of the mass walkout in San Francisco, bay cities, remained a problem which officials admitted still was loaded with dynamite.

Hugh Johnson, NRA administrator and spokesman for the federal maritime dispute board here, conferred with labor leaders last night. Though no one would speak for publicly, it was the conference, it was intimated, some of the union leaders had expressed willingness to propose an end to the walkout before the general strike committee.

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi announced a "bridge" rule every day in the city of San Francisco. He also advised an emergency citizens' committee that he would refuse to recognize the right of any one, including unions to issue "permits" to merchants to do their business.

The proposal to end the strike in the Eastbay cities of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley (Alameda county) was announced by William H. Spooner, secretary of the Central Labor council. The question to be voted on, he said, will be the return of all union members to work tomorrow.

Vote On Return.

Spooner's statement said the call for a vote by the 42,000 union workers in the Eastbay was made because of developments in San Francisco where the general strike committee has permitted some organizations of labor to resume employment.

The entire union labor force in the bay area numbers nearly 100,000. Approximately 80,000 of it was estimated to be actively in the mass walkout which started here Monday and spread to the Eastbay Tuesday. Estimates now are that approximately 20,000 already returned to work under strike condition permits.

An order from the general strike committee approving the return of all union restaurants automatically returned to work 4,000 to 5,000 culinary workers last night.

It was reported that the national guard patrolled waterfront would be opened soon were made by R. Stanley Dollar of the Dollar Steamship lines and William P. Both, president of the Matson

Navigation company, who said all their vessels had been notified to resume scheduled calls here.

The waterfront has been virtually closed since May 9 when the longshoremen walked out, demanding higher pay, shorter hours, union recognition, and control of the hiring agencies.

Raid by asserted "vigilante" groups on alleged radical headquarters continued last night as men armed with clubs smashed and battered their way into the International Workers of the World meeting place and a club, police said was a communist "hangout."

Conservative Leaders Split with Leftists

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—(P)—Labor ranks in San Francisco split sharply today over relaxing the general walkout and arbitrating the maritime disputes.

Dominated by conservative labor leaders, the general strike committee reportedly reaffirmed its recommendation that all maritime questions be submitted to arbitration.

The reported reaffirmation came in a heated meeting last night at which Harry Bridges, Australian-born militant leftist leader of Longshoremen, moved for reconsideration of the proposal which was passionately over the violent opposition of his faction.

His motion, intended to prolong the general strike which conservative labor leaders are rapidly relaxing, was twice turned down.

Earlier in a statement to newspapermen which he later rapidly added, the wiry little Bridges was quoted:

"The general strike is over but the Longshoremen are not beaten."

In his attack on the committee recommendation for immediate arbitration, Bridges was supported by other maritime leaders.

"If the delegates who voted for the arbitration resolution think our members are going to abide by its stipulations," said Frank Ryan, secretary of the International Seamen's union, "they are sorely mistaken."

Anti-Radicals Are Conducting Raids

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—(P)—Anti-radical groups in the San Francisco area were organized today to give battle to those who charge that they are radicals.

Raiders in San Francisco have resulted in about 300 arrests of radical leaders and followers on charges of vagrancy. Many of the raids were conducted by self-appointed vigilantes.

District Attorney Matthew Brady took personal charge of prosecution of those arrested in the raids Tuesday and yesterday. He asked in court that all trials be delayed until Federal officials had time to investigate the citizenship status of each defendant.

Deportation, said Brady, would be a most effective weapon if it could legally be used.

Each of the arrested men demanded a jury trial when arraigned in court yesterday so the cases were put over two days to a week and bail for most of the defendants set at $1,000 to $2,000. Only a few were able to provide it.

East Bay Workers To Return to Work

OAKLAND, Calif., July 19.—(P)—Conciliation of the general labor strike in the east bay district, affecting some 42,000 union members, and resumption of streetcar, ferry and bus transportation tomorrow morning was approved by Alameda county labor leaders today.

The strategy committee of the Alameda county central labor council and building trades council voted last night to recommend ending the general strike in the east bay district tomorrow. The committee is to place this recommendation before delegates of 107 union locals at a mass meeting tonight.

Restoration of service on the key route trains and boats, the east bay motor coach lines was agreed on a meeting of union and transportation company officials. The route trains and boats and local street car and bus systems have been out since Tuesday in sympathy with the San Francisco general strike.

The action to vote on the general return to work came after a day in which thousands of east bay citizens, arming themselves with various weapons ranging from shotguns to pick handles, formed committees to open channels for the unhampered flow of food and fuel into the area.

Some Interesting Features of Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—(P)—Amusements of recent seasons are staging a comeback in San Francisco, where the mass strike this week closed all the theatres, night clubs and beach concessions. Jigsaw puzzles have been put to use again; table tennis equipment has been resurrected; the popular game of checkers usually in favor; fishing, golf, and tennis equipment is in heavy demand at stores; and even miniature golf is making a comeback.

Gasoline gurgled into dry automobile tanks today for the first time for nearly a week and cars of the Market Street Railway reappeared on the streets, bringing the city nearer normal transportation after five days of tumbled auto rides, bicycles, limited tram service, roller skates—and walking.

How many millions of dollars the three days of the general strike has cost San Francisco no one has estimated, but a survey today indicated a 65 per cent loss from normal. The Longshoremen's strike alone was estimated by waterfront employers to be costing the city $1,000,000 a day. The staggering total cost of paralysis of curtailment of most normal commercial functions of this financial capital of the Pacific Coast, if ever known, may make that figure seem negligible.

The strike has contributed to an increase of nearly 1,000 persons on the relief rolls the past 10 days, the citizens emergency relief committee reported.

Brief Sketches Candidates For Texas Governor

(By The Associated Press.)

(This is the second of a series of "brief sketches" candidates for the gubernatorial nomination in the democratic primaries.)

C. C. McDONALD

Charles Cleveland McDonald, a speaker on Texas political fronts for most of a century, has been chosen to wage a campaign for governor.

Forty-nine years ago he was born on a farm near Bonham and 24 years ago he first appeared as a candidate for governor.

His first efforts to the successful gubernatorial campaign of Oscar B. Colquitt. Four years later he first exposed the cause of James E. Ferguson with whom he since has retained political affiliation.

McDonald, a lawyer, in his early political life held two public offices. He was appointed to them by governors for whom he had campaigned. Colquitt elevated him from school teacher to secretary of state. While in that office McDonald completed his study of law and received his license. Ferguson appointed him to the office now designated state's attorney for the court of criminal appeals.

From that position he went to the private practice of law and has maintained offices in several Texas cities, principally Wichita Falls, his home.

In a calm demeanor not characterized in his previous campaigning he has predicated his plea for the governorship principally on a platform designed to aid the down-trodden. He has told the voters of his plans for "homes for the homeless," an old age pension and repeal of the ad valorem tax on real estate.

A big plank in his platform, one which he delights to stress, is his advocacy of repeal of state liquor laws. He has laid claim to being the most consistent anti-prohibitionist of those seeking the democratic nomination.

REPRESENTATIVES OF PHOTO-ENGRAVERS IN CORSICANA TODAY

Representatives of five Texas photo-engraving firms were in Corsicana Thursday bidding on work for the publicity committee of the Texas Centennial Commission.

Lowry Martin, vice-president of the commission, announced Thursday that he had conferred with J. K. Hughes of Mexico, another member of the commission, by telephone and that a big celebration with the Centennial as the theme would be held in the Limestone county city Friday night. Members of the publicity staff will be guests of the occasion along with Mr. Martin.

the greatest wave of lawlessness ever known in Texas." xEdward K. Russell, at Mexico Corsicana and Paris, renewed his advocacy of a continuation of the stringent prohibition laws and also pleaded that a "business man be given a chance to administer the state's affairs as governor."

C. C. McDonald, advocating repeal of prohibition in every form, campaigned at Stamford and Arlington. He dwelt at length on his proposed pension for the aged and issue unemployment insurance.

Congressman-at-Large Joseph Weldon Bailey, addressing an Austin audience, renewed his challenge to United States Senator Tom Connally to meet him in joint debate. Senator Connally spoke at Galveston, where he discussed his record during his first term in the senate.

inability to do anything in the matter because of the lack of a labor code in the pecan shelling industry. The labor board calls the strike a walkout or refusal of shellers to contract their services at a scale they consider insufficient.

The board calls it a walkout because the workers refused to go to work Monday when contractors opened the shelleries which had been previously closed because of the slack season. Rodriguez describes it as a strike for higher wages.

NAVARRO COUNTY IN LIST OF EMERGENCY LOANS TO FARMERS

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(P)—The farm credit administration today added 230 counties to the list of those in which it will make emergency loans to farmers.

It specified 141 counties in Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas to the secondary list in which loans may be made to purchase feed for livestock, for summer fallowing and for purchasing winter seed wheat and rye.

The emergency drought classification was increased by 89 counties in which loans will be advanced for livestock, feed, and forage production. These counties are in California, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Texas, and Wyoming.

Loans made for this purpose are advanced from the $525,000,000 drought relief fund.

The farm credit administration selects counties from the list designated by the farm administration as areas in which loans are made.

Additional Texas counties placed in the emergency drought list:

TO START TAKING APPLICATIONS FARM ALLOTMENTS SOON

Roy Zellner, Navarro County Bankhead act administrator, announced Wednesday that he planned to begin taking applications for farm allotments about the last of the week. Committees will be distributed to all parts of the county for convenient for each producer to make out his application.

The administrator announced that the allotments would be based primarily on the 1934-35 contracts, and that landowners and tenants could facilitate matters by figuring their pro rata land poundage in advance and having it available for entering on their applications. Hearty co-operation is urged in order that the allotments may be made quickly by the state board with an early harvest indicated.

Those who did not enter into a cotton contract this year will be required to make up their cotton production figures from 1923 to 1932, giving the same information sought on the voluntary contracts. The allotments of farms not under contract will be determined approximately by multiplying 63 per cent of the base acreage planted in cotton by the yield per acre of the prevailing community.

Efforts will be made to prevent unduly high yield figures and irregularities, according to the administrator.

NEED ONE MORE DRESS? HERE'S A LOVELY ONE! Pattern 1930

Look at this sketch and we are sure that you will decide that you need one more dress—one like this! It is so simple—so charming—and so useful. Get two sets of accessories to go with it and it will be exactly as though you had two new frocks. Suppose you choose for the fabric a white silk crepe with a dark blue pattern. Get a blue hat, blue shoes and gloves and then a set of fresh ones—your white things are beginning to show wear. You will love the dress with both, but it will look very different. Or make it of organza, voile, dimity or muslin.

Pattern 1930 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 4 yards 39-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send Fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

JUDGE OWENS OFFERS PERTINENT PORTIONS OF THE RECORD OF MR. WELLS IN THE STATE LEGISLATURE ON ECONOMY

SALARY—Mr. Wells in his former campaign shed Crocodile tears over the poor down-trodden farming class and stated there ought to be the strictest economy in governmental expenditures and told the people that he was willing to cut his salary, to $5.00 per day. That statement was made in every announcement. I challenge the entire House Journal for any record of any place where he ever offered to reduce the salary to $5.00 per day, or where he ever made a motion to so reduce the salary. He collected every penny of his salary on the basis of $10.00 per day. He was willing to promise anything in order that he could get into office and after getting in took every dollar possible. He could have worked for $5.00 as he promised, but did not.

EXPENSE ACCOUNT—He took $170.62 for stationery, supplies, stamps and envelopes, telephone and telephones. They were in session practically 180 days and this amount is almost $1.00 per day which was certain liberal with the public money. (See House Journal).

MILEAGE COLLECTED—The Second called Session of the 43rd Legislature convened on January 29, 1934, and adjourned on February 27, 1934. On these dates and at that time Mr. Wells was in attendance upon the State university. He did not go from his home in Corsicana to Austin to attend the session and he did not return to his home in Corsicana after the session was over. Will he tell the people why he took the mileage allowed him for that special session amounting to $32.40?

Truly Mr. Wells economized on the salary and expense of every official EXCEPT HIS OWN! He simply didn't have the heart to cut his own salary and expense.

ON RACE HORSE GAMBLING—We call attention to the inconsistent record of Mr. Wells on the race horse gambling. At the time he went to the Legislature he knew he ought to oppose this measure and he did oppose it in the beginning. The matter was first presented by House Bill 103 as appears on Page 112 of the House Journal. At pages 930-31-32-33 we find that Mr. Wells voted against passing the bill.

The proponents of the race horse measure took a little time to recruit their forces. House Bill Number 103 was killed about March 20, 1933 and thereafter on May 16, the Conference Committee report on House Bill Number 167 was brought in and the report carried a rider providing for horse race gambling. When the Conference report was filed Mr. Graves moved to refuse to adopt the report and that the Speaker appoint another Committee and that the Committee be directed to report to their conference room and that they be instructed to eliminate the portion of the bill establishing the horse race commission. The yeas and nays were taken on that motion and Mr. Wells should have voted FOR the motion, but on the contrary he voted AGAINST it and it lost by 76 yeas to 42 yeas. The question then came up on the adoption of the report. The yeas and nays were taken and Mr. Wells voted FOR the Conference Committee report which established in Texas and legalized horse race gambling. This record may be found at pages 2439, 2440 and 2441 of the House Journal. This was 15 days prior to the date of adjournment.

Something happened to Mr. Wells to change his views. Will he tell the people of Navarro County why he changed his mind? The matter will be up again next session. Shouldn't he tell us where he stands and how he will vote?

HIS FAVORING THE OIL COMPANIES—We next refer to the record of Mr. Wells on House Bill 154. This was the bill by which the oil companies relieved themselves of one-eighth of their occupation tax by placing one-eighth of the occupation tax paid by them on the land owner. Prior to September 1, 1933 the producing oil companies paid the occupation tax on the production of oil and this tax was measured against each producer at a certain number of cents per barrel. The vice in the measure lies in the lifting of one-eighth of the production tax from the PRODUCERS OF THE OIL which are the operating companies and placing the same on the land owners who are not oil producers. Mr. Wells supported this measure and even voted (Page 1270 House Journal) to suspend the rule to place the bill on its third reading. He voted for the bill on its third reading and final passage as appears on page 1694 of the House Journal. This measure lifts more than one million dollars annually off the producing companies and puts it on the land and royalty owners. Surely, only the oil companies wanted this bill passed.

THE SABINE RIVER BED BILL—Mr. Wells aided in passing Senate Bill Number 203 by which the state lost one-eighth of the production from approximately 117 oil wells in the Sabine River Bed. The value of this oil, lost to the state, in all probability, will exceed Five Million Dollars, depending of course upon the length of time the wells continue to produce. On the basis of ten years' production the state will lose more than Five Million Dollars. This amount is lost to the schools and to the citizenship generally. His record on this matter will be found at pages 1958 and 1959 of the House Journal. Surely he was not voting to promote the interest of the people when he aided in the passage of this bill. Will he explain to the people, his constituents? I have given above the record of these official acts of which I complain. These votes and official acts may be confirmed by a reference to the House Journal copies of which are now available in my office and at the County Judge's office. If it can be shown from the House Journal that I have mis-stated any vote or official act I will quit the campaign in fifteen seconds after it is done.

SECOND TERM—He is not entitled to the second term usually accorded by the Democratic Party for two reasons: He is not a Democrat in that he has persistently refused to endorse the National Democratic Platform and the National Democratic Ticket and further his record as above disclosed forfeits any claim which he ever had on the people to a second term. It is also manifest from the character of campaign he is making that he is not being frank with the people whose suffrage he seeks and is refusing to take a public position on any of the questions now agitating the minds of the people. I can never believe that the intelligent citizenship of Navarro County want one to represent them who is not wholly candid and frank in stating his views on public questions. Any candidate who is not willing to be candid and frank with the people whose suffrage he seeks is most certainly unworthy of their support. Let no one be deceived. This is a contest between the masses of the people on one side and special interests on the other. The big interests know that the State Legislature is the key to the control and domination of the State. The people generally do not recognize this fact. It is high time the people should be aroused.

As representative I will stand by and protect the interests of all the people. I will give every interest having matters before the Legislature fair and impartial consideration and will be every to the interests of all.

I seek the office solely upon my own merits and qualifications. My record in former offices held for the people of the county is well known. I have shown the votes and record of my opponent for the purpose of establishing the fact of his disqualification. I seek the support and suffrage of my fellow-citizens wholly upon the basis of whatever merit and qualification for the place which I may possess.

R. B. OWEN, Candidate for Representative From Navarro County, 58th District.

A WOMAN AFTER HIM, MAN OF GOD FLEES TO WILDERNESS *

Following Most Dramatic Triumph In History, Elijah Runs Away to the Desert—A Traveller Trails His Footsteps—Again a Voice on Sinai.

By WILLIAM T. ELIAS

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned." Queen Jezebel had taken the Prophet Elijah's activities as personal to herself. She it was who had brought that priest of Baal into Israel; they represented the religion of her own home. She herself was a fanatical devotee of Baal.

So when King Ahab carried to the palace word of the thrilling duel on Mt. Carmel, of the defeat of Baal and of the destruction of his priests, and of the end of the drought, Jezebel's first reaction was to seek vengeance upon Elijah. She sent him a fierce message that by the morrow he would share the fate of the slain priests.

Right here we come upon a seeming reversal of character that the modern psychologists would have no difficulty in explaining. Elijah had undergone an ecstatic experience. All his energies were taut. The strain was too intense to last. After action comes reaction. Sensitive spirits naturally slump from the heights to the depths. Elijah needed rest and quiet. No wonder his nerves broke under the vindictive threats of Jezebel. So he "went for his life, and came to Beersheba."

No Liar Like Our Bodies. Kipling says, "There is no liar like our bodies." After his terrific ordeal and triumph, Elijah was completely worn out. So his physical sensations lied to him, and made him believe that he and his cause were a failure. He went a day's journey into the Sinai wilderness below Beersheba, and lay down under a juniper tree and prayed that he might die. What he really needed was rest and food, and these God provided.

At least, he had done well in taking to the desert. Naturally I have been repeatedly at Beersheba, where Isaac's wells still give water; and like Elijah, I have slept under a juniper tree at the end of my first day's journey into the wilderness. We were in danger from hostile Arabs—a false alarm aroused them at night—but we shall never forget the velvet sky and the near stars over Sinai, nor the desert sunrise. Elijah's solitude is understandable only to one who has followed his footsteps.

Amidst Sinai's Crags. Heartened by food and rest, the prophet made a leisurely forty-day journey to Mount Horeb, where God had given the Law to Moses. The Greek monks, who have occupied a monastery on Mt. Sinai for almost the entire length of the Christian era, long ago built a chapel at the traditional site of Elijah's cave. It is on the inner side of Sinai, in a mountain-girt valley; and as remote from human life as anything imaginable. Alone Elijah might well think that "I even I only, am left" of those faithful to Jehovah.

Discouragement is a serious sickness. When hope goes, all goes—sound judgment, a sense of relative values, and an ability to carry on. Recently I talked with a representative of a historic New York firm which, during the depression, had merged with another house, and practically lost its identity and mission.

"Why did you do it?" I asked. "It was just another case of losing nerve in the presence of discouraging conditions. There was no good reason why we should have quit, as we well know now. That story, built on the Elijah pattern, has been duplicated thousands of times in the past four years.

Bluntly, let it be said that egotism is at the root of most such experiences. Folks take themselves too seriously. They are looking in, instead of looking out. After Jehovah had brought Elijah to his senses, he learned that there were seven thousand in Israel who had never bowed the knee to Baal. And conceded Elijah thought he was the only one! He was a forerunner of the old Scotsman—who said he believed there were only two good persons left; "Me and my wife Jane."

and sometime I have my doubts about Jane." This Elijah Lesson is a timely one for all the glum self-centered and ignorant persons who think that nobody else holds the true faith but themselves. They like Elijah are cave dwellers. It would open their eyes to attend one of the hundreds of Summer Conferences of Christians that are being held all over the land, or to study the statistics of recent religious growth.

The Voice for the Times. Once, in the thunders of this very Mt. Sinai where Elijah had hidden himself, Jehovah had spoken to Moses. God speaks in many tones—but He always speaks. So the discouraged prophet has bidden to step out into the sunlight, and hear what he should hear.

Bear in mind the awesome setting of this scene. I have visited most of the most impressive spots on this earth's surface—the Grand Canyon, the Garden of the Gods, the Jordan and Dead Sea depression, the clefts in the Caucasus, the ravines in the Adirondacks and the mountain passes of Japan. But for sheer awesomeness—a sense of mystery and of the wild forces of nature—nothing ever impressed me like the granite peaks and valleys and gorges of the Sinai range. Small wonder that the Arabs have dotted it with propitiatory stone heaps.

In this sublime setting Elijah was bidden to stand forth and listen. A rock-splitting storm swept through the valley; but the voice of Jehovah was not in it. Afterward came an earthquake, that set the stony mountains to reeling; but Jehovah was not in it. Fire followed, but yet the Voice was not heard.

"And after the fire a still small voice—or, as the marginal rendering has it, 'a sound of gentle stillness'—and therein God spoke. Perhaps the voice for our times. If we would but suppress the clamor that surrounds modern life long enough to listen, is to come in the quiet of introspection and meditation. I find it good to go occasionally to Quaker Meetings, where Christians who believe in 'the inner voice' have learned the worship of silence. In the monotony of the quiet times we may get a message of individual duty, as did Elijah.

Hitler gathered two million persons in one place to hear him make a speech. Bands and banners marked the occasion. Over all the multitude the loud-speakers blared. Nevertheless, mere bigness did not make the occasion great. There are plenty of insane and stupid broadcasts transmitted over nation-wide hookups any time of the day or night. It is not size or numbers or noise that counts. One man in solitude may be listening to inner voices that will mean more to mankind than all the propaganda publicity of a decade. Out of the silences comes greatness.

Back to the Job. Wilderness retreats are good and necessary for occasions; but our real work must be amidst the people. I do not know any more ineffective body of Christians than the Greek monks on Sinai—the barrenness and futility of their lives impress every visitor to the monastery. Back to his job Jehovah sent the discouraged prophet. His first objective was the great city of Damascus, a complete and complete contrast to Sinai's solitudes as could be imagined. There was work, great work and unsuspected fellowship, awaiting Elijah in Syria and Israel. It may seem anticlimactic, but the childlike rhyme, a cure for the blues, comes to mind as a message to all downcast Christians: "Do something for somebody, quick!"

YOUNG PEOPLE'S EPWORTH UNION IN SESSION AT KERENS

The Young People's Epworth Union met last Tuesday night, July 17, at the Kerens Methodist church with 54 young people and counselors present.

Miss Geraldine Hayes of the Eleventh Avenue Methodist league had charge of the following devotional program:

Prayer: by Rev. Bowman.
Song: The Morning Light is Breaking.

Scripture Reading by Nelva d'Orsay, Nellie Frances Immon, and George McPherson.

Talk by the leader.
A special reading was given by Miss Josephine d'Orsay, and Miss Ruth Adams rendered a beautiful solo accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. F. Adams.

The subject for the night was "Light" and following is some of the highlights of the talk made by Miss Hayes.

"I am the Light of the world," said Jesus. "Now and always will I be the light and life of men." "We are the lamps, and Christ alone in us is the light, and so let your light shine before men that they may see your wonderful works and understand Jesus, the Light of the world," quoted Miss Hayes.

In the business session a great amount of business was settled and the union as a whole agreed to the appointment of a program chairman in arranging devotionals for the remainder of the year.

A visiting campaign was inaugurated by the officers of the union, and it was agreed that every league who is supposed to be a member of the union should be visited and asked to join the union.

Several games and a treasure hunt was enjoyed by all, and to top this off delicious watermelons were served by Rev. Bowman.

The next union meeting will be held at the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church, August 2.

It was pointed out at the county clerk's office Tuesday morning that under a recent ruling of the attorney general's office, the county clerk cannot take ballots to the home of an invalid to permit the invalid to vote in the primary election. The opinion states that a person physically unable to go to the polls and who does not intend to be absent from the county on the election day is not eligible to cast an absentee ballot. A number of queries relative to the above information has been received at the clerk's office.

There had been 112 absentee ballots cast at the county clerk's office Tuesday morning, an increase of 14 over Monday's figure.

COTTON GROWERS URGED TO ASSIST ACREAGE CHECKUP

Cotton producers of Navarro county can render valuable assistance in the measurement and checkup of all 1934 cotton acreage by giving their respective committees the same co-operation given in the past, C. C. Morris, county agent announced Wednesday.

Presence of the farmers in their fields when the committeemen arrive for the measuring will assist the workers, and materially reduce the expense of the campaign, resulting in greater parity payments to the producers. The committeemen have the authority to measure and check fields without the producer's presence but this action is not desirable.

Mr. Morris pointed out that the parity payment was a voluntary gift from the government to the producers who voluntarily reduced their acreage, and the payments will not be affected by the drought, and will be almost an insurance dividend in spite of losses by storms, droughts or other uncontrollable factors. The payment is to be not less than one cent per pound for forty per cent of the average yield of the farm over the period from 1928 to 1932.

The county agent stated that the committeemen would be glad to arrange their daily schedules with the assistance of the producers.

Relief to Navarro county farmers under the provisions of the emergency drought relief program will not be available to this area until the latter part of next week according to information received by County Agent C. C. Morris Wednesday.

An appraiser will be named by Dr. O. B. Martin of College Station, and the veterinarian by the Interstate Livestock commission. Applications for cattle purchases will be made to the county agent. More definite announcement of the plan will be made later.

CORSICANA, TEX., JULY 20, 1934

FOUR-BILLION-DOLLAR SUMMER

Nobody can say that this summer is dead, even if general business figures have slumped a little. Some kinds of business are very good indeed. Chief among them is the tourist industry, which is expected to aggregate about $4,000,000,000 for the year, and most of which is concentrated in the summer months. Motorists alone, the American Automobile Association estimates, will spend nearly half a billion more than they did last season. The motor branch of the great vacation army is expected to contribute altogether three billions of the whole outlay, the other billion being scattered around by those who travel by train, ship and plane.

If these estimates are realized, it will be the biggest touring year since 1929. And that will mean that the vacation industry, at least, has turned the corner. We might even say it has turned two or three corners.

All this expenditure for travel, sight-seeing and recreation is not only in itself a good sign of recovery, but promotes further recovery through the feeding of other industries. Nearly all of it is spent in the United States. It is good for the country as a whole to get this money into wide and rapid circulation.

AVOIDABLE BURNS

Burns are among the more frequent and serious accidents which occur to people in the supposed haven of home. At the American Medical Association convention an exhibit was devoted to the subject. Statistics presented there showed that, over an eleven-year period, hot fluids (soup, water, coffee and so on) caused 54.6 per cent of the burns. Flames caused 20.5 per cent; fires started by playing with matches caused 8.3 per cent. Chemicals caused 6.3 per cent. Causes of the final 10.3 per cent were not classified.

Of the burns studied, 80.3 per cent could have been avoided by a little ordinary care. Only 8.93 per cent were declared unavoidable.

The purpose of assembling and quoting such figures, distressing as they may be, is to further the work of prevention. It should be possible to teach children the correct method of handling necessary fire—in stoves, lamps, outdoors, and so on. Much has been done to protect school children from motor accidents by training them to exercise certain precautions. The same sort of safety—that provided by intelligent and unwavering carelessness—should reduce the number of unnecessary burns.

MORE STAMP COLLECTORS

Stamp collecting is booming, possibly because many persons now regard a good collection as a sound investment as well as an absorbing hobby. Postmaster General Farley recently reported that during the year ended June 30, sales of stamps for collection purposes totaled $811,723 against $302,619.54 the previous year. He ascribes to this particular hobby a "distinct educational, geographical and scientific value."

Perhaps it is all that, although it is one of those interests which a person either takes to with his whole being or mildly despises. An IMPROVEMENT.

How many years of mud and slime before man started in to climb? How many long years went in that first bleak environment. Before man dared to quit his groove. And his environment improve? Perhaps with but a single bound he vaulted up to higher ground. Then stopped and stretched his hand to aid the weak, the timid and afraid. Still dreaming dreams, man's strength is spent. In bettering his environment. Still slowly is improvement made. Still do the timid and afraid wait for the daring leader who shall bridge for them the old and new.

INFORMAL GOVERNMENT

Senator Huey P. Long may be just an ordinary fish at Washington, but he is still a kingfish in Louisiana. Since Congress adjourned he seems to be running the legislature down at Baton Rouge.

An Associated Press story represents him as a regular attendant, appearing every morning at the governor's suite in the state house, keeping tab on proceedings in the House and Senate, and getting into action personally on the floor when he considers it necessary. He is represented as unquestionably the Big Boss, issuing orders to his lieutenants, controlling the fate of measures, killing bills of which he disapproves and substituting others, dictating committee meetings and reports, snapping his fingers for motions to be put, stamping up and down the aisles and forcing members to do his will by sheer audacity and vigor.

This sort of thing would hardly be expected outside of a fiction story. Is there any other country in the world where the profession of statesmanship reveals such quaint and informal behavior?

BUREAUCRATIC FEET

Secretary Ickes of the Interior Department showed unsuspected qualities as a lecturer and peep artist when he called 4,000 government employees together the other day, after a Haroun-al-Raschid tour of the department. His humorous account of what he had seen—hundreds of employees eating, loafing and beautifying on government time—raised a few laughs, but wasn't really funny to the culprits with guilty consciences. For there was a punch in the humor.

"I have always had an aversion to gentlemen—and ladies—sitting with their feet on desks," he remarked, referring to a scene where he had observed six pairs of feet on one desk.

"I know that some, in the defense of this proclivity, say they can think better; but I wonder what they are thinking with." Other observers have doubtless felt the same wonder. Feet will be lower now, and heads higher, in many an office at Washington and elsewhere.

The biggest stinger was in the secretary's casual remark that he has on file 86,000 applications for jobs in his department. That reminder may lead to serious thought among the minor bureaucrats.

Recently all the other nations were worrying about us. Now we are worrying about them.

The American idea is service with a smile, whether in business or government.

Ignorant non-collector, taken in tow by an enthusiast, is astonished to learn that the good points of a stamp are not its beauty as a work of art, its historical interest or even the length of its journey from issuing country to collector. Rarity is most important, of course. So, too, are certain types of cancellation or lack of cancellation, perfections and imperfections and so on.

It does not do for the uninitiated to criticize or laugh. There are other hobbies less defensible. But he may rise to ask what will be the value of collections in the future if an increasingly high proportion of the population takes to collecting? Will the law of supply and demand be suspended here as it seems to have been in some other fields?

PLANNED PICNICS

Going to have a big picnic? Wondering how to keep the crowd amused? The picnic bureau of the city recreation department in Cleveland has solved that problem for local groups. It has compiled a list of nearly 300 games suitable to outings of mixed groups. In addition to the list which leaders may use in making out their own programs, the bureau will plan outings, include game and race suggestions and the lending of non-perishable play equipment. An experienced play leader can be had for a small fee. Says the city recreation commissioner:

"This picnic bureau handled 354 outings last summer, and we are running almost 25 picnics ahead of last year's schedule now. We hope that every church, school, factory, fraternal order and private group will make use of this available free service this summer."

Old-fashioned folk may sniff and say they were able to handle their own picnics in the good old days. The fact remains that such a bureau can be of great service and good to a community. More fun for everybody, fewer accidents, less inducement for youngsters to get into mischief, more chance for adults to enjoy their own amusements while the children are safely occupied in a different group—these are a few of the blessings which ought to go with planned picnics. As for those who just want to sit in the shade and visit or bask in the sun, they can do so with less annoyance from the energetic members of the crowd.

The horses finally got their revenge. One of them lay down in Times Square, New York, and tied up traffic for three hours.

"Are experimentation and planning compatible?" asks a business writer. Well, Nature seems to work them together successfully.

Hitler is simply a top-notch out of place. He belongs in Hollywood.

University Regents to Discuss School of Mines Situation

A discussion of the situation at the Texas School of Mines at El Paso relative to the election of a president to succeed J. B. Barry, recently resigned, will be held before the full board of regents of the University of Texas Saturday.

Dean C. A. Puckett has been acting president since the resignation of Barry several months ago. Considerable differences of opinion over administrative policies between Barry and El Paso citizens were attributed as the cause of Barry's resignation.

Mr. Denson stated he had hoped the formal contracts with the PWA on loans for the construction of men's and women's dormitories at the University of Texas would be received in time for consideration at this session of the regents.

JOHNSON PAYS HIS ANNUAL VISIT WITH WORTHAM CITIZENS

MAIN SPEAKER AT BANQUET MEETING OF BUSINESS MEN'S CIVIC CLUB

WORTHAM, July 19.—(Sp.)—Congressman Luther A. Johnson of Corsicana, and Washington, was the guest speaker here Tuesday night at the regular meeting and banquet of the Business Men's Civic Club. This was Mr. Johnson's annual visit to Wortham as it was scheduled some years ago that he make Wortham a visit as soon as the adjournment of Congress. On this occasion a record-breaking attendance was reached in both of the membership and guests, to greet the chief speaker and enjoy an elaborate menu served by the women of one of the churches. It was most pleasing to Mr. Johnson to greet his many Wortham friends, and some few of his older friends, that made special effort to be present, although it was distinctly understood it was no political gathering.

In absence of the club president, A. J. McKinney presided, and the honor guest was presented by R. G. Seely, Mr. Johnson most graciously and eloquently expressed his appreciation, as he declared "The meeting tonight is a most wonderful get-together meeting at the same time I hardly know anything new to speak about in Wortham as I have spoken here so many times."

He mentioned the situation of Wortham, fittingly located in the nearness to three counties, Freestone, Limestone and Navarro. "The center of my heart's affection is here in these three counties, with Wortham as the center when I want to Fairfield." He mentioned some interesting affairs of these trips as mere incidents in his life, but I love to live in those memories of the past."

Concluding his introductory remarks, he said: "There is one thing depression has not affected, and that is friends—it is the finest thing in life to have friends."

Reviews Congress Act. Approaching his subject of the evening, some of the accomplishments of the session, he said more legislation was enacted than at any session in the history of Congress. Referring to previous session, he said about the only contact that a congressman had with the people was sending out a seed. He eulogized the great president, Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Johnson in part said:

"You have something more than a reformer—You have a reformer of information—his plans worked out to help every person. Laws passed, laws that affected every man, woman and child in the United States, the president's important step, was to restore the buying power of agriculture; there has never been an administration in the history of the country that has thought more, or planned more."

This congressman gave a roll call of some of the major acts passed just before adjournment, reviewing briefly some of these: Gold reserve, silver purchase, security act, anti-trust act, cotton control, tariff act, national housing act, labor adjustment and others, some of interest in one section of the country and some in others.

He referred to troubles with other administrations which he served under heretofore—to discriminate against the cotton section—like step-children, cotton always took a beating. Mr. Johnson told of securing "secondary drought relief, then emergency relief for his nine counties," which recent passage was of much concern locally. The speaker held his large audience almost spellbound for more than an hour, with his interesting and rather optimistic address.

Notwithstanding the intense heat during the afternoon of 104 degrees, the banquet hall was made so comfortable as possible with artificial devices, and a fine fellowship was displayed.

Outlining his address of the evening, the congressman stated: "We are coming out of this depression—coming slowly. Uncle Sam has been a very sick patient—suppressed and depressed. We people of the United States, with our hard heads and hearts have the best place in which to live—liberty of speech, our churches, schools, and homes—a land, which is great and good."

Negro Identified As Pigeon Dropper By Two Victims

Important Notice To All Election Officials!

Immediately upon the completion of the count of your box please phone (collect) results to the Corsicana Daily Sun.

The Sun will attempt to give complete county totals the night of the election. This will be impossible without your box.

Just tell the operator to connect you with the Daily Sun, Corsicana, (collect).

You should bear in mind that the last Legislature passed a law requiring your returns to be phoned in immediately after the polls are closed and the count completed and imposes a stiff penalty on the precinct chairman if he shall neglect to do this. The law further provides that the official returns shall be made to the County Chairman within twenty-four hours after the ballots are counted. A fine of not less than $50.00 nor more than $1,000 is the penalty fixed by law for any violation of the election law.

This is very important and your co-operation will be greatly appreciated.

I will make my headquarters at the Sun office the night of the election.

AMERICAN CITIES GOING DEEPER IN DEBT ONCE MORE

TOTAL OBLIGATION MUNICIPAL BONDS PLACED AT EIGHTEEN BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—Debt of American cities have begun to increase again in a big way. Their total is estimated now at almost $18,000,000,000.

Before the depression, the total was going up at the rate of a billion dollars a year. The slump interrupted that but figures showed today that municipal borrowings in the general market in the first six months of 1934 exceeded $500,000,000. This was approximately the same sum as for the whole of 1933.

Banks, stripped of their dealings in general bonds by the securities act, which divorced the banking from the private securities trade, have been active participants in the disposal of municipal bonds.

Added to the sales of such securities in the capital market have been loans to cities through federal emergency agencies.

Some of the bonds bought by the public works administration have been resold at a profit, and it holds others that can be disposed of similarly, but not all fall in this class.

Among the bonds held are obligations of cities that already were in default when F. W. A. loans and grants were made to acquire or build utility plants in the Tennessee valley.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation was authorized by the last congress to make $200,000,000 more available to the FWA for loans to cities. Whether the entire amount will be lent is considered doubtful.

TWO GRASS FIRES AND AUTO BLAZE IS CAUSE THREE RUNS

Two grass fires and a car fire occasioned runs for the fire department Wednesday night and Thursday morning but little damage resulted. The first alarm was caused by a grass fire on North Ninth street about 8:15 with no loss reported.

Shortly before midnight the department was summoned to the Orphan's Home road west of the city limits by a grass fire. At 4:30 Thursday morning the department was called to the S. Miles home, just west of the city limits. Sparks from a cigarette had ignited the upholstery of a light truck and resulted in considerable damage to the interior of the cab. The fire was noticed by a passerby, who gave the alarm and aided in getting the truck out of the garage.

Two negroes are being held in the county jail for investigation into the alleged robbery of a Breckenridge negro in the west end of the county Wednesday afternoon. The two negroes reside in Corsicana and were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Jack Floyd on advice of Dawson officers.
According to the version given by the victim to Constable Billie Lawrence at Dawson, he was preparing to ride a bus to Dawson to visit relatives and the local negroes offered to take him to Dawson in their car for four gallons of gasoline.
The victim alleges he went to sleep while riding along and when he awoke, was missing eight $1 bills and saw it in the pocket of one of the others. When he accused them of taking his money, he was put out of the car near Richland creek west of Furdon where the incident was reported.
The other two turned around and headed back toward Corsicana and the arrests followed.

REVIVAL SERVICES TO BE HELD AT LONE OAK C. P. CHURCH

In beginning a series of revival services Sunday, July 22nd at the Lone Oak Cumberland Presbyterian church we take the position, backed by the unchanging Word of God that it is still possible to have an old fashioned revival of religion. If we, as God's people, are willing to pay the price we also take the position that we have gone beyond the help of man, though "They have healed the hurt—lightly, saying 'Peace, peace; when there is no peace, and we must now turn to God, who has the power, and will heal the land when we meet His condition. (See 2 Chron. 7:13-14.)

Come, hear this subject fully discussed from the Bible standpoint, and also plans for remaining services of the meeting.

Rev. S. R. Standifer will be with us at the evening service and continue through the meeting. We desire the help, prayers and attendance of all Christians, and at the attendance of the unsaved if interested in their salvation. No one else can do the job that God's marked out for you."

THIRD QUARTERLY CONFERENCE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Dr. Casper S. Wright, presiding elder of the Corsicana District, presided at the third quarterly conference of the First Methodist church Wednesday night. The conference was preceded by a short church night service with Rev. T. Edgar Neal as leader and a special musical number by quartet composed of Edgar Metcalf, E. E. Burkhardt, Mrs. Boyce Martin and Mrs. A. L. Absher, with Mrs. H. B. Love at the piano.

With Edgar Metcalf elected secretary, reports were made by various reports from the church and school. Rev. T. Edgar Neal in his report showed a net increase of twenty-two in membership of the church for the quarter and he reported conditions throughout the church good.

Other reports were made by Boyce Martin, for the Sunday school; W. P. McCammon, for the Brotherhood; J. L. Jackson, for the League; Mrs. T. Edgar Neal, for the vacation Bible school; T. S. Murchison, chairman of the board of stewards; Dr. H. B. Love and others.

The financial report of R. A. Caldwell, treasurer, showed conditions much better than this time last year. All reports were of an optimistic nature, showing that the church was well organized and every department functioning nicely.

All requests for beauty information desired by Edna Kent Forbes and her followers must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped and sealed envelope (5c. or 10c. stamps) to cover cost of printing and mailing. For the illustrated pamphlet, "BEAUTY," ten cents in stamps will fully S.S.S. be enclosed. Address Miss Forbes in care of this paper.

DUTY TO YOUR FACE.

Changing Your Face.
You don't know what you can do with your face until you try. Miss Forbes tells you a few things you can accomplish with makeup and a little patience and experimenting.

Having gone through the problem of soap (basis of all beauty culture) yesterday and incidentally found out how to save money by having the world's best soap and at about the world's lowest price — let us spend some of this saved money for facial frivolities. After all, you have a duty to your face which extends beyond turning it out clean every day. Soap once a day and cream in between times or, cleansing cream (the chief virtue of this is to be lightness), washed off, then something to close the pores and to stimulate any skin tonic you like, and see water if you can't afford any. And then a foundation cream.

Here's a large choice: White, for ordinary skins, but if you have a very sallow skin, then a tinted one—pinkish. Or a sunburn tint if you want to go deep brunette and sun-tanned over the summer. Powder should match the skin tones, of course, but always should have a bit more flesh tint than the skin itself. Unless you are a buxom and red-faced lady, in which case you go in for whites and beige and greenish-beige powder to lend delicacy and pallor.

Couage, must match your blood tones—slap your face and match the rouge to the red spot. Lipstick about the same shade, deeper or lighter, as you find most becoming. These cheer up the face and make the eyes. Therefore, eye-shadow for evening. And day-time, too, if you are rich and leisurely, social and glamorous. Otherwise not; use eye-shadow only when dark. And about any shade you want, though the color of your eyes is your best guide. Brown, or black mascara, depending on whether you are blonde or brunette. The glamorous type just mentioned can also use green, blue, or violet eyelash mascara with discretion.

Miss A. B. C.—Consult a skin specialist about the possibilities of getting rid of the pits left from having chicken pox in your babyhood. Having the skin peeled is not such a simple matter that any one may undertake it who is not skilled, and the process you describe does not seem to be a possibility to execute.

Perplexed—the mixture of peroxide and ammonia will bleach the hairs and dry out some of them so they will cease to grow. Occasionally this mixture devitalizes such hair until it disappears entirely, although it cannot be considered as a cure for numerous hairs. The ammonia should be the strength of either household or toilette uses; proportions are half and half.

VISITING MASONIC OFFICIAL CONDUCT EXAMINATIONS HERE

J. J. Hutchison of Port Arthur will be the guest of the Masonic Lodge here next Thursday and Friday for the purpose of conducting examinations in the esoteric work of the fraternity, and a dozen or so local Masons will renew their certificates of proficiency, while two new certificates will be applied for by locals.

Neighboring lodges are always invited to participate in these examinations, which are held here every July, and a dozen more of these neighbors will face the examiner this year. This will be the first examination that Mr. Hutchison has ever conducted in Corsicana.

Mr. Hutchison is a member of the committee on work of the Grand Lodge.

Machinery Is Started Which Will Result In Big Texas Celebration

In the environs of the city where the idea was born eleven years ago, the Texas Centennial of 1936 became a living creature Monday afternoon as the special commission set up by the legislature after years of continuous effort adopted fifteen million dollars as the minimum sum needed to stage a celebration suitable for Texas and also adopted a plan for the enterprise.

From formal and informal comments of the eighteen members of the commission who gathered in Corsicana Monday afternoon it could be very definitely gathered that the celebration was not to be a "world's fair" although the whole world would be invited, but rather the celebration would be a recognition of the romantic history of the heart of the Southwest and the paying of tribute to the hardy forebears of the present generation in the measure due.

From the report of the planning committee and the expressions of the members of the commission it was learned that the entire centennial would be historical in nature and that, in addition, a provision was made for the keeping of the proper sequence of the parade of events in the last century in the territory just west of the Sabine and south of the Red River.

At the Monday afternoon meeting, Walter D. Cline, chairman of the executive committee of the commission, reported to President Cullen F. Thomas, presiding officer, the naming of three subcommittees who had been at work on three major phases of the centennial: art, literature, planning, and publicity.

Minimum Set at $15,000,000. Gen. John A. Hulen of Fort Worth presented in writing the report made at the meeting of the executive committee in San Antonio several days ago, and set a minimum need for the centennial the sum of $15,000,000. He reported that further details of the work of his committee would be reported when the details were completed and the proper date arrived.

Former Governor Pat M. Neff of Waco took the floor to endorse the figure as a minimum requirement for the celebration, stating that the goal could not be reached without the aid of the state. In connection with the report of the planning committee, read by John H. Shary of Mission, it was announced that Mrs. W. B. Sharp of Houston had made a trip from Santa Fe, N. M., to attend the meeting of the commission. It was reported that the report of the planning committee was the result of more than six days intensive effort on the part of the committee members, headed by Chairman John D. Middleton of Greenville.

The committee reported that open meetings had been held where representatives of various sections of the state had gathered and presented their views in the type of celebration to be held. Expert authority on such undertakings had also been interviewed prior to the Monday meeting.

Recommendations Made. The recommendations of the committee were as follows: 1. That the centennial be international in scope and as large as possible, and in keeping with the history of the state. 2. That an authentic history of Texas be presented under the supervision and direction of the department of history of the University of Texas and with the cooperation and assistance of every citizen and embodying the wealth of material now being uncovered in the central drives to be unbiased and factual in nature so that it would preserve the deeds of old heroes and the dramatic history of the state for posterity. 3. That plans should be made immediately to portray the progress of the state in every way through a central exposition and through local celebrations in a spirit of co-operation, with state funds to be allocated to the various local celebrations within the state.

4. That the celebration be gigantic in size and international in scope. 5. That the romantic manifest destiny of the state be truthfully portrayed and the facts presented in such a manner that the United States government would be willing to participate in the celebration in recognition of the part played by Texas in the development of the southwest and the west through the years. 6. That the president of the commission take action immediately to collaborate with the congressional centennial commission headed by Senator Tom Connally, in order to determine the steps necessary to secure federal aid and proceed in that direction. 7. That the governors of other states be contacted and invited to participate in the celebration, especially those from whose bounds came the flow of early settlers; and also those states to the west whose founders came from this state; that foreign governments be invited to participate in the exhibition of trade and culture to further good will, especially the governments of Spain, France and Mexico, to complete a graphic presentation of Texas under six flags.

Permanent Organization. 8. That a permanent organization be affected at once, with powers in an executive committee of not more than seven or less than five, and a director-general to be selected and a complete staff of assistants employed. 9. That a director-general be secured at once, and the work thoroughly departmentized. 10. That permanent markers and memorials be erected at and near the scenes of the greatest heroism and historical significance. 11. That the centennial exposition be a complete story of Texas from pioneer to present, living up to the motto "That Texas as May Know and Love Texas Better."

Housing Plans. 12. That housing plans be made immediately to include administration quarters, agriculture and horticulture, manufacturing, mineral resources, cotton, transportation, livestock with a hippodrome for the staging of rodeos, game preserves, science structure, education and liberal arts, fine arts, religious development, museum for staging pageants and sports, auditorium for large gatherings, and model farms of all kinds. 13. That a systematic educational campaign on the history of Texas and the importance of the centennial be launched through the public schools with the co-operation of all available agencies. 14. That all national organizations be invited to hold their 1936 conventions in Texas. 15. That special recognition be given to Texas talent in the field of fine arts including music, art, poetry, etc., especially among the youth of the state with appropriate contests.

Proposal for Bids. Proposals for cities bidding for site of central exposition: 1. That the bid or proposal shall be signed by the mayor and other officers of the bidding city. 2. That the site shall provide approximately 200 acres of land which will lend itself to development purposes including walks, streets, parks, parkways, lagoons, cascades and other structural and scenic attractions, and have adequate parking space and transportation facilities adjacent. Drawings shall supplement the proposals. Entrances shall be made as attractive as possible. 3. The cities shall provide to the site without cost to the commission electricity, gas, water, fire protection, sewerage and drainage. 4. Attention is called to the provision that 10 per cent of the gross revenues are required to be set aside for the state until state funds advanced are repaid, and then the net profits shall be divided proportionately between the city, state and other contributors. 5. The proposals shall state the maximum value of the proposed site without cost to the commission, and evidence of good faith must be shown. If property is submitted as valuable consideration it should be valued by approved appraisers. 6. In the event of the award of the location, the city securing the site must within 60 days begin the completion of the proposal and make the funds available to the commission authorities. 7. The commission reserves the right to reject any or all bids. 8. That the bids shall be submitted on or before 12 noon, September 1, 1934 to the president of the Texas Centennial in Austin, Texas, and the bids shall be opened on that date. The bids will be opened in public, tabulated and analyzed before the winner is made known. Other Celebrations. Proposals for those desiring to stage subordinate historical celebrations: 1. Proposals shall be submitted in writing. 2. Suitable sites shall be listed, along with dates desired, and historical sketches of the event to be celebrated, the total cost of staging such event, number of people needed, number of people available, and extent of local financial participation, and additional financial needs. 3. All bids shall be submitted to

Navarro County Now Placed In Emergency Area

Navarro county officials were informed late Monday that the remaining three counties in the sixth congressional district had been placed in emergency drought relief area. The latest additions included Navarro, Leon and Freestone counties.

This action followed activities on the part of County Judge C. E. McWilliams, County Agent C. Morris, Postmaster A. A. Allison and others in the assistance of Congressman Luther A. Johnson and United States Senator Tom Connally.

Mr. Johnson was notified late Monday of the action by his secretary in Washington. All other counties in his district had previously been placed in the emergency division.

The following telegram was received Tuesday morning from Senator Connally by the Corsicana Daily Sun:

"Please to advise designation of Navarro county for emergency drought relief. Glad to be of service. Tom Connally."

County Agent Morris said Tuesday that he had not received specific instructions on the procedure, but expected regulations at once. It is probable that an appropriate veterinarian will be named for the county. Applications will likely be made to the county agent by those desiring to sell cattle to the government, and the animals will probably then be passed on by federal officials and a value set on them.

the president of the commission at Austin on or before Nov. 1, 1934.

The report also recommended the retention of absolute control of all affairs of the centennial by the commission at all times.

George L. Dahl of the firm of Dahl and Greene, consulting architects, discussed various features of the plans.

After some discussion the committee report was adopted subject to such revisions as were made necessary by future developments.

Publicity Committee. Lower Martin, vice president of the commission and chairman of the publicity committee, reported that he had gathered a capable staff and that the task of making Texas centennial conscious was now well under way. He reported fine co-operation from state officials on contracts for supplies and printing and also on the cashing of state warrants.

Drawings of centennial posters were exhibited, and copies of the second issue of the "Texas Centennial News" were distributed. Mr. Martin stated that no funds were being spent for advertising space, and that all recognized mediums were being used including newspapers, periodicals, radio, street billboards, and personal contact. He said all contracts were being let by competitive bidding.

He also reported that the first big centennial celebration would be held at Mexico on Friday, night with plans complete for a big entertainment presided over by J. K. Hughes, member of the commission.

The commission decided that a complete attendance of the body was necessary at Austin on September 1, and that a committee composed of President Thomas, Mr. Cline, Mr. Middleton, and Executive Secretary Will H. Mayes, along with a representative of each bidding city should open the bids.

It was also decided to submit the copy for the centennial handbook to a committee composed of Gov. Neff, Mrs. O. M. Farnsworth of San Antonio, and Mrs. T. B. Griffith of Terrell for approval before publication.

Martin in Charge. President Thomas announced that he was to be out of the state for several weeks, and in the interim Gus F. Taylor of Tyler, treasurer of the commission, was named to pass on warrants and vouchers. Vice President Martin will be in charge of commission activities during this period.

The commission extended a rising vote of appreciation to the city of Corsicana and all citizens who assisted in the staging of the meeting and of the luncheon, and then adjourned.

NORTH DAKOTA

The conviction of a felony bars him from serving in office.
Personal Files Removed.
The stenographer continued at her work after Olson took possession of the office. The governor's quarters appeared deserted. Langer's personal files had been removed. Papers had been cleared of all papers.
Guardsmen were entered in the corridors, and some outside the building.
Six telegrams, addressed to Langer, came into the office shortly after Olson entered.
One of the telegrams came from R. H. Lynch, republican county central committee chairman of Divide county, who advised Langer:
"Stand by your guns. One thousand and help in Divide county. If you don't help call."

Olson went into an informal conference with political friends who began to gather as word went out that he had taken possession of the office.
Staff Told to Lend Co-Operation.
Before he entered, Assistant Adjutant General H. A. Brocopp notified Langer's office staff that Olson would appear soon and to give him their cooperation.

Olson's first official act after installing himself in the executive offices was a command to the state board of administration, guardian of the state capitol building, to keep doors of the legislative assemblies locked.
With Olson declared acting governor by the state supreme court, and with the national guard definitely under his control, political circles looked for swift moves toward ousting certain Langer appointees.
It remained to be seen whether Langer appointees will abide by Olson's orders. Some, however, have indicated they are ready to vacate office, and Langer appointees who had been politically active in supporting the ousted chief executive have removed personal files from their offices.

Plan Impeachments In North Dakota

BISMARCK, N. D., July 19.—(AP)—Wholesale impeachment proceedings threatened to throw North Dakota farther into political chaos today as two claimants for the governorship battled for control of the state government.
Ole H. Olson, lieutenant-governor, named acting chief executive by the supreme court, occupied the strategic seat of one approved by the judiciary and backed by the military.
On the other hand, the state legislature prepared to meet today at the call of the man it recognizes, William Langer, deposed by the state supreme court after his conviction on a federal criminal charge.
Reports circulated throughout Bismarck that hundreds, perhaps thousands, of farmers were headed for the capital, determined to support Langer in whatever action he may demand.

Both Olson and Assistant Adjutant General E. A. Sartor recognized the seriousness of the situation by maintaining national guardsmen on duty throughout the night.
Observers professed to believe that the legislature would vote wholesale impeachments of state officials, possibly including members of the supreme court who voted to oust Langer, on the ground he was unqualified to hold office because of his conviction on a charge of soliciting funds from federal relief workers.

Whatever the action of the legislature, the factions were open to question by many legal authorities, who questioned the right of the members to assemble in turmoil.
Threats against a federal official brought a trio of infantrymen to guard the home of E. A. Wilson, relief administrator for the state, who a few days before had been manhandled by striking rubber workers.
Wilson was informed by local police that definite threats had been made to his life and family. Wilson sent his wife and children from the city and Sartor ordered the guardsmen to his home.
Langer is under sentence of 18 months in a federal prison and a fine of $10,000. He has appealed to the federal circuit court of appeals and takes the stand that until the final court determines his case he still is legally governor.

APPLICATIONS FOR EMERGENCY CROP LOANS ON FRIDAY

Applications for emergency crop loans will be received at the district offices of the Emergency Crop Loan division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the Chamber of Commerce building beginning Friday, H. R. Slaughter, district representative announced Wednesday.

Funds will be available for feed purchases, and for the planting of fall forage crops, with the same county set-up that passed on the emergency loans early this year.
Mr. Slaughter announced that ample funds were available for those who needed assistance, and that the loans would be made on the basis of actual need over monthly periods.
The loan making period is expected to cover an extended period unless sufficient rainfall is received to obviate the necessity of additional borrowings.

NEGRO VOTES

Mandamus suits are in the courts with a hearing against the Dallas county executive committee set for Friday morning. Beaumont parties filed a mandamus suit in the state supreme court Thursday.
Some candidates favor the allowing of the negroes to vote, while others have stated privately that in the event they are defeated in a close count, will file a suit on the ground if they have reason to believe the negro balloting had anything to do with the final result.

Negroes Called Meeting.
A meeting of negro voters of Corsicana was called for Tuesday night at a local negro church but no official report of the meeting, if held, has been made.
Several local attorneys state they believe the ruling of James V. Allred, attorney general of Texas, and candidate for governor, in barring the negro votes in the democratic primary election is correct under existing laws.

Johnson Clothing Co. Move New Quarters

Johnson Clothing company was engaged Tuesday in moving to new quarters in the Levine building on West Collin street between Main and Beaton streets.
Work of remodeling the old quarters for occupancy by the new retail store of the Graham Brown Shoe company is expected to start at once.

Sick and Convalescent.
Gene Tyner, who received serious chest injuries when hit by a chain link on a Girard Oil company lease near Mildred recently, was resting very well Thursday afternoon at the P. and S. hospital.
Mrs. I. Rush was reported to be resting nicely Thursday afternoon at the P. and S. hospital, where he underwent an operation recently.
Miss Minnie Lee Shields was doing nicely today at the P. and S. hospital.

The North Dakota Farmers' Holiday Association, whose forces stand behind William Langer, ousted governor, came into Bismarck today.
The party consisted of 32 farmers from Lamoure county. They said two additional truck loads were on the way.
The men were non-communicative about their purpose.

TOM TYSON WILL MAKE SPEECHES IN INTEREST OF WITT

Several addresses in the interest of the candidacy of Edgar Witt of Waco, lieutenant governor of Texas and candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in the approaching democratic primaries, will be given in Navarro county communities during the next several days by Tom Tyson of Franking former district attorney and well-known speaker.
It was revealed Thursday afternoon by members of the local Witt for Governor club.

Three addresses will be given Saturday. The first will be at Blooming Grove Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the second will be at Dawson at 5 o'clock. Kerens will be visited Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Each of the appearances will be at the tabernacles.

Four addresses will be given by Tyson Tuesday, July 24, as follows:
Dreka—10 a. m., Masonic Hall.
Rice—3 p. m.
Richland—5 p. m.
Corsicana—Courthouse — 8:30 p. m.
Candidates for other state offices, or their representatives are invited to be present and present their candidacies at the Witt meetings.

NEGROES

Houston to force the democratic party to recognize negro voters. The federal court case has been set for hearing Saturday while the suit in the state court has been called for Monday.

The petition alleged the state convention met at Houston solely to name presidential electors and exceeded its authority in passing the resolution closing the primaries to negroes.

The petition pointed out that the state democratic executive committee at a recent meeting in Austin refused to pass on the eligibility of negroes to vote in the primaries.

car with the intention of robbing the bank.
As they had no firearms, they raided the Strawn Mercantile company store at Strawn, Texas, and obtained four shotguns, four pistols and a rifle, as well as a supply of ammunition.
Lucas said he "didn't know why" he didn't shoot Charles M. Castle, assistant cashier of the bank, when Castle moved during the robbery yesterday noon.

ALBANY, July 19.—(AP)—Two youths who raided the First National Bank here of almost $12,000 in currency and travelers checks, only to surrender a few hours later in a gun battle, were scheduled to appear before the grand jury here today—less than 24 hours after their escape.

District Attorney R. J. Black said a quick trial for the youths, James Lucas, 22, who recently escaped from the Harlem state prison farm, and Jack Hardin of Oklahoma, would be asked.

Handling two guns each, the men walked into the bank during a noon hour lull, lined up employees and ransacked the tellers' cage and vault. They took with them $5,103 in cash and $6,600 in travelers checks.

Sheriffs Holmes of Seymour, Indiana, and the holdup, started driving toward Albany. He met the robber car and they began an exchange of shots. The youths disabled Sheriff's Holmes' car but he pressed a deputy's machine into use and again picked up their trail by tire marks.

They gave up after another volley of shots riddled their car and crawled out with their hands in the air. The sheriff pursued the car 22 miles.

Both were taken to Wichita Falls for fingerprinting and then returned here to face a hastily-called special session of the grand jury.

SENATOR CONNALLY SCHEDULED SPEAK HERE FRIDAY WEEK

U. S. Senator Tom Connally is scheduled to speak in Corsicana Friday afternoon, July 27, according to a tentative arrangement revealed Thursday morning by members of the local Connally committee.

Dr. N. D. Bule of Marlin, prominent Central Texas physician, is scheduled to be here on that date with a crack Marlin band.
It is expected Senator Connally will go to Dallas following his appearance here to end his campaign Friday night before the primary election the following day. Definite announcement of arrangements for the local appearance will likely be announced later.

HEAT

mer, although still three degrees below the July high of last year. Extremely low humidity the last two days increased the menace to plant life. No beneficial moisture has been received since 74 inch fell May 2.

Galveston Favored.
Galveston had still sultry weather yesterday with a maximum temperature of 89 but the ill effect was broken by a fresh Gulf breeze later. Galveston was one of the few points in Texas where the drought has been alleviated, a good rain falling there last week.

Paris had a high of 104, the highest of the year. A light shower July 1 was the only rain there since June 12.

The high at Austin was 100, but it was cooler today. The maximum there this year was 101. The last appreciable rain around Austin was May 23-25. There has been only one-third of an inch since. Livestock have been suffering and farmers face feed and water shortage.

A record for the year was set at Tyler yesterday when the temperature reached 102.
Abilene was blistered by 102 degrees. This same mark was recorded there July 8 and there were a few days in June that were hotter. Thirteen days of the last month Abilene has had temperatures of 100 or more degrees. The last good rain was early in April. Cotton has been standing up well, however, and there has been no general suffering of crops of livestock.

A record for the season was set at Denison when the temperature advanced to 107. Today's temperature promised to be as high.
Wichita Falls had a top of 105 yesterday, tying the record for the year. The drought has had the Wichita Falls region in its grip for two months and no prospect of relief were in sight immediately. However, the water supply is ample.

A Card of Thanks.
I wish to take this method of showing my appreciation and thanks to my many friends and relatives for their untiring attention and kindness shown me while in the hospital and the many beautiful floral offerings. May God bless each and every one.—J. S. FRAZIER.

FEDERAL PLANS

gration law was violated.

Earlier she had been asked whether the government, in its attempt to bring arbitration, might have talked over the advisability of reminding ship-owners about the assistance the United States gives in the form of mail subsidies. Making clear the labor department has nothing to do with subsidies, she acknowledged that "financial phases have been discussed in my presence."

The status of Hugh S. Johnson as official representative of the National Longshoremen's board, the Presidential peace agency, was explained by officials. It was said that his designation did not mean that he was in charge but that his status was similar to that of Senator Robert F. Wagner, who is representing the board in peace efforts in Portland, Oregon.

Deportation of aliens, Miss Perkins said, was possible on these three grounds: Unlawful entry into the country; advocacy of anarchy or the teaching of communism; a prison record of one year or more for crimes involving moral turpitude or more than one sentence on that charge after entry.
